

Lisa Kiley, Planning Consultant, is 1999 graduate of Addison High School in Addison, Michigan and stayed close to home her pursue her interest in showing Palomino Horses at the National Level. She earned a Bachelor of Arts degree in Psychology from Siena Heights University (SHU) in Adrian, Michigan. While at SHU her accomplishments included being chosen as Outstanding Psychology Student in 2004 and being the first to represent SHU at the Michigan Undergraduate Psychology Research Conference (MUPRC) where she presented research on “The Effect of the War in Iraq on Young Adult Voting Trends”.

With an interest in the psychology of politics and public policy, Ms. Kiley went on to Eastern Michigan University (EMU) to pursue a Master Degree in Public Administration with a concentration in land planning and development. While at EMU she worked as a graduate assistant in the political science department. Throughout her college years she had the opportunity to work as an intern in several different organizations including: Lenawee County Department of Aging, Community Action Agency of Lenawee County, Lighthouse Program, and the Village of Blissfield, Michigan.

During her last year of graduate school, Lisa met her husband Jerry “Skip” Kiley at a quarter horse show in Columbus. They were married in June, 2006 and have since settled down on a small horse farm in Blanchester. Lisa is currently working at Wilmington College as the Barn Manager and coach of the Intercollegiate Horse Show Association for both the Western and Hunt Seat Teams. She has also been working with Blanchester Downtown Development Committee and through the CCRPC authored the BDDC’s application for an ODNR NatureWorks grant in 2007.